The Assembly rooms have recently gone through a £250,000 refurbishment to restore them to their historic grandeur and once more look similar to when Charles Dickens gave his recitals there.

A centre piece to this is the personal collection of around 200 signed first editions in the collection of the current owners, Mr & Mrs Jagroop Duali.

On display will also be a selection of the over forty known editions of Wilson's Tales published over the last two centuries.

For those wishing to stay overnight, a special overnight B & B rate of £95 (normally £175), will be available. Book direct , using code Event24 .

Supported by Destination Tweed's Community Grants Scheme, which is funded by the National Lottery Heritage Fund.
